

RORSCHACH CONGRESS PARIS

17-21 July 2017

“Developments in projective research and practice.
Emerging issues and discoveries”

XXIIInd International Congress of Rorschach and Projective Methods
Paris, France, University Center “Les Cordeliers” in the heart of the “Quartier Latin”,

Exciting Congress enabling international researchers, practitioners, teachers and students to share their questions and discoveries.

Research within the framework of clinical normality in its contemporary expressions, and within the multiple fields of psychopathology in extremely varied terrains, makes it possible to highlight, support and value the contribution of projective tests, in order to illustrate their relevance, validity and dependability in quantitative and qualitative studies. Respectful of the diversity of interpretative approaches established specifically within projective methods, we intend to organize this International Congress as a forum enabling encounters, exchange and debate on the diverse orientations proposed by our scientific community (Phenomenological, Psychodynamic, Comprehensive System, R-PAS, etc.).
